

Master Classes: Michael Brennand-Wood

In August 2015 I had the honour of attending a one-day Master Class by the renowned Fibre Artist Michael Brennand-Wood at Ruthin Craft Centre in Wales. The day was fabulous! Michael put us all at ease and skilfully guided us through a making task that helped each of us find our visual voice that day (see my sample above which is created 'with the eye of the heart' sparked off by some visual resources given to us by Michael).

Alongside other artists, I referenced Michael's sculptural textile work in my final M.A. year, and have continued to reference him in my work with children (shown below).

I am pleased to say that I shall be attending a two-day Master Class again in March 2017 and I cannot wait!
